SUMMARY

My name is Kevin Christian Simalango. I'm male, twenty-one years old and I'm single. I am currently studying at Medan State Polytechnic, majoring in Software Engineering. As a fourth-year software engineering student, I gained valuable experience through courses and projects that have prepared me for a career in the field. I have a strong foundation in programming languages such as Java and C++, as well as experience with database management and software development methodologies. I also have a strong foundation in Videography and Editing such as Adobe After Effect, Adobe Premier Pro and several other editing software. I am also familiar with Adobe Illustrator, Photoshop. Additionally, I have honed my problem-solving skills through courses and collaborative projects with my peers. I am excited to continue learning and growing in my field through internships and other opportunities to gain hands-on experience.
